Faber Announces Climatic Home Products as a New Distributor Partner

HUDSON, MA - Sept 1, 2017 - Faber announced today that they have partnered with Climatic Home Products, a division of Climatic Corporation, as their new distributor for the Central and South Eastern United States. Under this agreement Climatic will be the sole distributor and support for Faber's Italian designed and crafted premium and luxury range hoods for this region.

“By teaming up with Climatic to distribute Faber range hoods, we will increase our presence and our distribution capabilities. Their focus on training and customer service will provide retailers and consumers with expertise they can trust” said Warren Lopata, Director of Faber US & Canada. Climatic will lead sales, dealer training and distribution in 9 states.

Climatic has 55 years of experience in home appliance distribution and product support training. “Faber offers one of the most impressive product lines on the market with reliability, style and performance,” said Climatic Home Products President Doug Allen. “This premium brand successfully attracts the audience looking for innovative solutions that enhance consumers’ lives. Climatic provides the dealer base with our own distinctive solutions, outstanding service and expertise. Like Faber, we lead the market in what we do.”

ABOUT FABER

Faber the global leader in kitchen ventilation, a part of the Franke Group, Kitchen Systems division, has been producing high-end kitchen range hoods since 1955 in Fabriano, Italy. For more than 60 years Faber has continued to manufacture with attention to detail, engineering excellence and fine European design. Every hood sold by Faber is constructed in a Faber owned factory. From inserts to wall, island and value / designer canopies, there is a style to fit almost every kitchen design.
